Other Surveys: Top Workplaces (2015/2013/2012)

Sure, this survey does seek feedback, but rarely has the administration done anything to address the criticisms or publicize how they have addressed those criticisms. And, realistically, they cannot address everything, nor should they try.... But try something and consult with those who have pointed out the problems on how best to remedy them

I hope that administration takes a look at the survey results this year...It doesn't seem like they ever look at the results or they look at the results but do not try to resolve any of the issues expressed. We say we value employees, but do we really....actions speak louder than words.

Communication - The lack of it...for instance, it would have been nice to receive an email from the college president before we got this survey instead of after the fact. That in itself makes it appear that this survey isn't very important to the President if he waits until after the survey is distributed to say "hey, we value your input"...sure doesn't make me feel that way.

Exempt Professional Staff		Employee Comments Report
What would make this institution a better place to work?
A higher regard for the contributions of staff - and better communication with them.
As an institution of higher learning, it would be nice if you were compensated for the degree that is required to apply for a job.
Because we are a tuition-driven institution, our budgets have been in a relative holding pattern over the last five years. Having a stronger endowment to support university operating budgets would allow for greater professional development and more adequate equipment updates.
Being more open and intentional about our founding by and connection to a Christian church.
Better communication, better and more training for faculty and staff
Better integrated systems, particularly databases.

Employee Engagement

CUPA-HR

*Employee engagement is the act of committing - rationally or emotionally - to something or someone within the organization. Engaged employees hold a positive emotional connection to their work. They value, enjoy and believe in their jobs, managers, teams, and organizations. A complex concept, engagement is influenced by many factors—from workplace culture, organizational communication and managerial styles to trust and respect, leadership and company reputation.

SHRM
