COVID Stress Line: 888-237-4567

We face new and unique challenges as we receive frequent and ever-evolving information from all over the world about current circumstances. The news at times can trigger and worsen symptoms of depression, PTSD and trauma. We are also encountering an increase in anxiety and stress, and will very likely see an increase in depression due to social isolation throughout the general public. Compass Health Network (CHN) would like to make a larger impact in addressing these crises within the communities we serve, spanning our forty-five (45) county region from Kansas City to St. Louis, Missouri. In an effort to be available to support those that we serve and those that live in our service areas, we have developed a Covid Stress Line – operating 24/7. Please call us for support and share this information with those you care about. We're here for you.
